

Lorin Durand began career development work for youth following a career in geology and science education. With experience in teaching students from pre-k through college she has insight into the needs of learners from all socioeconomic backgrounds and academic abilities. As the Program Manager for Careers CLiC she serves K-12 students and educators as they work together to help youth prepare and plan for their future.

